

FOUND DYNAMITE WITH A PICK.

Explosive Had Been Forgotten—Two Laborers Blown Up.

Giovanni Tuso, twenty-six years old, of No. 235 Arthur avenue, and Nicola Stomello, twenty-five, of No. 187 Hoffman avenue, will die as the result of a dynamite explosion.

The two men were at work digging a sewer at Hughes avenue and One Hundred and Eighty-fifth street, Borough of the Bronx, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and came across two sticks of dynamite in the ditch. The pick of one of the laborers struck one of the sticks, and an explosion followed.

Both men were hurled high in air. They were taken to the Furham Hospital, with no chances of recovery.

There is work where help is wanted. The World prints the greatest number of Help Wants.

DESERTERS SAY FOOD IS BAD.

Sailors of Cruiser Topeka Make Charges When Caught.

NORFOLK, Va., March 14.—The Norfolk police have been kept busy for the last three days capturing deserting sailors from the United States cruiser Topeka now at the navy-yard here.

Five deserters were arrested this morning and carried aboard the Topeka, where they were lodged in the brig, which was already crowded with others previously taken.

The blue jackets say they are given scant and unwholesome food aboard the cruiser and that life has become so unbearable on the ship that they have been forced to desert.

A local newspaper to-day publishes wholesale charges by members of the Topeka crew which may lead to an investigation by the naval authorities at Washington.

A. H. GREEN IS AT DEATH'S DOOR

Bronchitis Developed Into Pneumonia—Is at Worcester, Mass.

BOSTON, Mass., March 14.—Andrew H. Green, "the father of Greater New York," is seriously ill at his home, Green Hill, Worcester.

His recovery is considered doubtful. He contracted bronchitis in New York, and two weeks ago went to Worcester. Since then pneumonia has developed, and Green's physician, Dr. Charles L. Nichols, fears heart failure.

Green originated the idea of forming New York and its outlying cities and towns into one vast city. He put an immense amount of work and time into the plan. He is eighty years old, and until this illness was one of the most vigorous men of his age in the United States.

BOSSCHIETER FUND NOW NEARS THE $300 MARK.

Sympathetic Evening World Readers and the Stricken Family of the Murdered Girl.

Previously acknowledged, $280.01
A poor old man's offering... .08
G. A. L... .05
A few photo dept. employees Edison General Electric... 4.10
Mrs. J. P. Stirling... 2.00
With love and sympathy of a silk worker... 3.00

BY HARRIET HUBBARD AYER.

We have almost reached the $300 mark in the Bosschietter fund to raise the mortgage on the murdered mill girl's humble home.

Three hundred dollars will pay up interest due and be of enormous help to Mrs. Bosschietter, who hopes by this substantial aid to save the little home so doubly dear to her from association with her murdered child.

The contributions from a silk worker in "1872" speaks volumes for the brave, hard-working friend who sent it. If Evening World readers could see the little mill girls as I have, at their work early and late—busy, earnest, brave and good, so many of them the stay and support of an entire family—they would share my affection and respect for the heroic unselfishness of their lives.

We have no clue as to the identity of "1872" who sends us $3.00, with love and sympathy of a silk worker in 1872, but we thank the unknown friend of little Jennie Bosschietter with all our heart.

I want also to acknowledge the contribution from the employees of the Edison General Electric Company.

Poor Old Man's Help.

To the Editor of the Evening World: For the poor murdered girl's family, be it ever so little, may it help them along.

Brooklyn.
Love and Sympathy.
To the Editor of the Evening World: Three dollars with the love and sympathy of a silk worker in 1872 at Paterson, and I hope that God will support them in their affliction and trouble.
Woman Sends Aid.
To the Editor of the Evening World: Find enclosed $2 for the Bosschietter mortgage fund.
MRS. J. B. STIRLING

PASSENGERS ARE INDIGNANT.

Majestic Arrivals Angered Because Friends Cannot Meet Them.

After a rough winter passage the White Star liner Majestic came up to her dock this morning. She brought 182 first, 115 second and 221 steerage passengers. The customs examination of the passengers, as conducted under the new rules, was a searching one, and the declarations showed many articles purchased by passengers abroad on which duty was collected. The large crowd which was at the pier welcoming incoming friends was forced to keep outside the roped enclosure.

When the passengers came down the gangplank many were surprised that there were no friends at the pier to meet them. They were indignant when told that their friends would not be allowed on the pier.

George Lederer, the theatrical man, was angry to find that his family were not admitted to the pier. He expressed his opinion in no uncertain terms.

WIFE STRICKEN IN OPEN COURT

Woman About to Testify Against Husband Has Heart Failure.

Overcome by the dread of appearing against her husband in court, Mrs. Mary Paine, of No. 93 East One Hundred and Thirty-sixth street, was stricken mortally ill with heart disease in Part III. of the Supreme Court today.

Just as her case was called, Mrs. Paine, who was in court with her lawyer, Jurist E. Seelye, threw up her hands and would have fallen if Mr. Seelye had not supported her. She was carried to a vacant jury-room in a chair, and Dr. Schultz, who was in court, attended her.

"Her heart is in a very weak state," said the doctor, "and she may die at any minute."

Meanwhile the case was postponed. Mrs. Paine is a pretty woman about thirty years of age. She was married in 1880 and says her husband abandoned her three years ago.

COON SCARED BIG POLICEMAN.

The Animal Ran Up His Leg and Tripped Him.

Policeman Bomer, of the East Sixty-seventh street station, this afternoon captured a large raccoon in the rear of No. 24 East Seventy-fifth street.

Bomer was called into the place by the tenants, who saw the animal running about the yard. He got a piece of clothesline, and making a loop lassoed the animal.

But the raccoon climbed quickly up the policeman's leg and frightened him. He started to run, but tripped over the rope and fell on the animal.

The coon was imprisoned under the man's body, and while there two boys managed to capture it. It was placed in a large soap box and taken to the station. Capt. Brown telephoned to the Central Park Menagerie, but found there was no such animal missing. The captive will be turned over to the menagerie.

New Publications. New Publications. New Publications. New Publications. New Publications. New Publications. New Publications. New Publications.

20th CENTURY

The International Association of Newspapers and Authors

Members: Representative Newspapers and Authors of the World

P. L. FORD

Illustration of Paul Leicester Ford's BOOK Will be Shown in This Space Reduced in Size in The World of March 16th and 18th

THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF NEWSPAPERS AND AUTHORS has been organized and duly incorporated in this country, under the laws of the State of New York, which has for its object a complete revolution in book distribution throughout the English speaking world. It is an

INTERNATIONAL AND WORLD WIDE UNION FOR PUBLIC SERVICE.

During the past two years the great daily newspapers of the United States, Canada, England and Australia, two hundred in number, in 200 leading cities, have been organizing into separate associations for the specific object of collecting and publishing news concerning the works of famous authors, and making their books familiar to newspaper readers.

The object and purpose of this Combination of Brains and Business, is primarily to serve the public by encouraging a taste for good literature in fine cloth library bindings, and by supplying the best and most desirable copyright books to their readers at less than one-fourth the present cost. This can be done by advertising the books thoroughly in the best advertising mediums in each city throughout the world and in the wisest manner; and by printing unusually large editions, which will be immediately disposed of among the readers of the two hundred daily newspapers, so that the actual cost will be practically limited to the printing, paper and binding—about twenty per cent. of the present cost to the buyer.

On the part of the Author the object of the Association is to give him an enormously increased market by making him known throughout the English speaking World. The Newspapers of Great Britain will make the names of American Authors household words there, while the Newspapers of America will be doing the same on this side of the ocean for English Authors. Instead of a limited market, and sales only in his own country, he will be freely advertised all over the English speaking World. He will be protected in his copyright everywhere from literary pirates and unauthorized editions, by active and energetic agents, the members of the Association, personally interested in the sale of his works, and by this unusual publicity he will be enormously benefited.

Each and every book handled by the Association will be fully protected by copyright here and abroad.

But the cost to the purchaser will be less than that of pirated editions or unauthorized works. What will be saved will be for the exclusive benefit of Newspaper readers. The quality of manufacture will be far in advance of anything ever attempted at the price.

THE NEW YORK WORLD

has been selected to make the plan public for NEW YORK and vicinity, and the reading public will be informed daily through its columns of the progress of the plan and the author and title of his book when ready.

Owing to the extraordinary facilities required to serve the public promptly the Association has made arrangements with the house of

JOHN WANAMAKER

New York

to deliver through their stores the books as fast as issued. Full particulars of this extraordinary book distribution will appear in the

NEW YORK WORLD OF MARCH 16th AND 18th.

The following authors will comprise the FIRST SECTION, whose books are then to be offered:

Paul Leicester Ford, author of Janice Meredith, &c.

Frank R. Stockton, author of Rudder Grange, &c.

S. R. Crockett, author of Joan of the Sword Hand, &c.

Max Pemberton, author of the Garden of the Swords, &c.

Amelia E. Barr, author of A Bow of Orange Ribbon, &c.

R. D. Blackmore, author of Lorna Doone, &c.

Coulson Kernahan, author of The Child, The Wise Man and The Devil, &c.

Gertrude Florence Atherton, author of Senator North, &c.

James L. Ford, author of Hypnotic Tales, &c.

